HOUSE.

Twenty-Fourth Day—Morning Session.
Representative Cohen's bill raising the income tax exemption to $1500 passed the House this morning after a hard fight, during which Cohen made one of the strongest speeches of the session. It was in marked contrast to much of the drivel that continues so much of the time of the lower chamber, and appeared to be unusually effective, several vociferous members being swung over onto the side favoring the passage of the bill. Kaloopa, who had declared himself favorable to the measure, performed his customary double back-handing and landed with the opposition when the vote was taken.

The House spent much of the morning wrestling over the question of the passage of Sheldon's bill prohibiting the strewing of broken glass, tacks, tin cans, etc., in the public highway. Some of the members appeared to fear that some crafty bug was concealed in the very obvious measure, and the records for insanity were all broken by some of the brilliant speeches made. The calm, good sense that characterized the early days of the session has fled and nothing seems to be too weird or improbable for some of the members to do or say. The Democratic representatives are especially distinguishing themselves in this line, though they are duly assailed by one or two who were elected on the Republican ticket.

One of the best examples of wild and weird bills yet introduced is that presented yesterday by Kaloopa and passed today on second reading, which provides that only seven kinds of feed fish may be sold in the Territory. The bill would make it a violation of the law to sell or expose for sale any other.

SENATE PASSES LIQUOR BILL

Measure Goes Through Upper Chamber With Only
Four Opposing Votes—Entire Morning Session
Given Over To Discussion—Quinn Lines Up
With Advocates of License Law Amendment

By a vote of 11 to 4 the Ways and Means Committee report and passed third reading in the Senate this morning.

No measure which has come up this session has caused one-half the argument which greeted the liquor bill, the entire forenoon session being given up to debating the proposed legislation.

Senators Moore and McCarthy led the forces of those who wanted to amend the present law, while President Smith turned the Chair over to Vice President Kalama and captained the cohorts of the opposition. Quinn's stand.

Senator Quinn, whose stand on the liquor bill has been the subject of considerable speculation, came out squarely in favor of the amended measure.

The bill was the first taken up on the order of the day, Senator Moore moving that it be considered section by section. There was no objection to the motion.

The Civic Federation and Women's Christian Temperance Union were both represented by strong delegations in the visitors' gallery, and every maneuver of either side was watched with intense interest.

Section by Section

The first section of the bill to cause discussion was that regulating the rates for liquor licenses by Territorial designation, instead of by postoffice classification, as under the present law. Senator McCarthy pointed out in the instance of the hotel at Haleiwa, which, because the classification of the postoffice at Waihalua has been raised to the third class, is now forced to pay as high a license fee as in the Alexander Young Hotel in this city.

He said that the raise in the classification of the Waihalua postoffice was due not to increase in the population, but to increased business with the Japanese of the district.

Smith Is Opposed

Senator Smith, who had in the meantime descended to the floor, then caught the Chairman's eye. Said he:

"As you know, I am opposed to any change in the present liquor law."

Editor Evening Bulletin:
In spite of the support of the Administration and Speaker Cannon, the Mail Subsidy bill has again failed in the House. Every possible effort was made to rally a majority in favor of the bill, but it failed by a vote of 172 to 175.

This repeated defeat of the subsidy policy by Congress, even when embodied in a very mild and limited bill, indicates that there is no near-by transportation relief in sight for Hawaii by that method.

In spite of some backsets that have come to Hawaiian measures in this session of Congress, the results are in other ways very gratifying.

A total of over $2,300,000 has been appropriated for Federal works, in addition to the considerable sums for salaries, legislative expenses, leprosy hospital, and similar current expenditures. The total for the various Federal works exceeds the actual appropriations of last year, and is made up of the following main items:

Fortifications and access-	$417,800.00
Marine barracks	185,000.00
Pearl Harbor channel	600,000.00
Pearl Harbor dry dock	200,000.00
Pearl Harbor navy yard	100,000.00
Seacoast Artillery quar-	200,000.00
ters	200,000.00
Cavalry post	200,000.00

NEW SCHEME OF PUBLIC FINANCE

The tentative scheme on which the members of the Legislature are working to make the expenses of government come within the income is published on pages nine and ten of this issue. It shows items reduced, offices combined and the expense and income distributed on a new scheme between the Counties and the Territory. The recent elimination of the Promotion Committee item is believed to have originated from this new plan that has been under discussion among the legislators.

REFINED SUGAR SLIGHTLY CUT; COFFEE FREE

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 17.—The tariff bill for the consideration of which Congress is assembled in extra session was introduced in the House today and immediately referred to the Ways and Means Committee, of which Congressman Payne is chairman.

The bill provides for a general revision of the tariff downward, there being maximum and minimum rates of duty on imports. An inheritance tax is imposed and the Panama Canal bonds are taken care of by the issuance of Treasury certificates. There are reciprocity and draw back clauses.

The measure is calculated to increase the revenue of the country from forty to fifty millions of dollars.

The duty on refined sugar is reduced four one-hundredths of one cent, per pound. Coffee and leather are free.

The duty on steel, lumber, and iron is cut about one-half. The duty on lemons is increased a quarter of a cent. A limited amount of sugar and tobacco is to be admitted free from the Philippines.

HILONIAN ARRIVES

With her passengers decorated with lets in commemoration of St. Patrick's Day, the Matson liner Hilonian, Captain Johnson, arrived today from San Francisco with twenty-one passengers for this port.

Captain Johnson and the officers of the liner were likewise decorated with lets and they and the passengers were the center of attraction as they stood on the deck. Among the arrivals in here were Hon. and Mrs. John G. Woolley, who came here to remain permanently. They were met at the wharf by Mr. Homer of the Forestry Bureau; L. S. Conness, formerly of Honolulu; Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Kellgren, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Canario, and G. Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Robertson of C. Brewer & Co., were among the other passengers.

The Hilonian brought for this port 2200 tons of general cargo and 126 bags of mail.

Army Supplies To Be Purchased Here

Local dealers will have an opportunity to supply fuel and forage to the Army posts here during the coming year. Captain Moor N. Falls, U. S. Army, Depot Quartermaster, has issued a call for tenders.

The supplies called for in the tenders are "fuel, forage, straw, mineral oil, blacksmith's coal, charcoal, fuel oil, and gasoline." The notice stipulates that bids shall cover such quantities of the above articles as shall be "required in the different military posts at Honolulu and on the island of Oahu during the year ending June 30, 1910."

All tenders, which must be in the form of sealed proposals, must be in the hands of the depot quartermaster, in triplicate, not later than 10 o'clock on the morning of April 1.
